BUSINESS SUMMARY

City of Roses Disposal & Recycling (COR) is a locally owned vertically integrated closed loop materials management firm whose mission is to assist General Contractors, Developers, Municipalities, Manufacturers and all other waste generators attain high levels of material recovery in order to minimize waste disposal costs by passing on savings through recycling, reuse and salvaging efforts.

EXPERTISE & EXPERIENCE

COR has provided our suite of services in many venues and most importantly we have been able to achieve recovery rates in excess of 90% recycling, which in many cases would be referred to as “ZERO” waste. Through the many years of experiences and successes, the leadership has developed a culture at COR that is based on shared prosperity where our customers benefit economically, our stakeholders and employees benefit socially and our local region benefits environmentally.

FACILITIES & EQUIPMENT

COR possesses all necessary equipment to collect and process waste debris, including a zero-emissions electric (EV) truck, alongside efficient technologies that continuously capture operational data. Our processes provide presentation-ready recycling, reuse, and salvage reports for all customers. Through our reporting platform, we demonstrate the value our recycling process delivers to customers and their clients through the lens of sustainability.
